One of Australia's leading Americana singer-songwriters, Lucie Tiger plays a unique and captivating style of country blues/rock, and she will be headlining the Australian Music Week Americana Showcase on November 7, 2019.

In July this year, Lucie won the Sydney SongsOnStage contest this year and has three songs nominated for this year's Australian Songwriters Association (ASA) awards as well as a further fourth nomination by the Board of the ASA for the prestigious Rudy Brandsma Award for Songwriting Excellence. Lucie's single 'Apple Tree' was selected as the theme music for 'Good Morning Country', one of Australia's most popular country music radio programs syndicated nationally.

Before going solo, Lucie was the founding member and band leader of Tiger & the Rogues, and her solo, self-titled debut EP was released in December 2018 (on Keith Richards' birthday no less). When she started writing her own songs, Lucie's inspiration came from everywhere as she journeyed through life, a true traveller at heart. She has developed an extraordinary knack for turning her road trip travels into song.

Catch Lucie Tiger when she headlines the AMERICANA SHOWCASE, 7 November 2019.
